

Three hundred and fifty-three names were added to the list of the dead at Galveston yesterday. The representatives of The Post in the storm-swept city are making every effort to compile a correct list, and nearly all the names sent in recently have been reported at Houston Post headquarters by friends and relatives of the hurricane's victims. It is impossible, however, to prevent some errors being made, and wherever mistakes are noticed it will be a kindness to many a grief-stricken person to have this corrected. It is requested, therefore, that those having names to add to this list, or corrections to make, notify The Post at the earliest opportunity.

Galveston Men Say the City Will Undoubt

Reported to the Governor that Great Distitution Exists Along the Brazos River, Thousands of People Being in Extreme Want.

Austin, Texas, September 14.—From early morning until far in the afternoon Governor Sayers today entertained relief committees from various points along the coast which was swept by the storm of Saturday and Sunday. Among the first committee to arrive was the one from Galveston comprise Mr. J. D. Skinner, president of the cotton exchange; Major Goree and Mr. Spencer of that city. These gentlemen consulted at length with Governor Bayers, going into all the details of the relief work being done at Galveston, the prospects for the future and what the immediate present demanded. As a re-

State Adjutant General Scully should be left in command of the city, which is still to be considered under military rule, and that he was to have the exclusive control, not only of the patrolling of the city, but of the sanitary forces engaged in cleaning the city. It was decided also that instead of looking to the laboring people, he can only approximate the total.

Assistant State Engineer J. J. Jones, who is returning from his inspection of the State quarantine station at Galveston and the city in general, reports the station is ready to be built from the ground up. As to the sanitary conditions of Galveston, they are very bad, and the sanitary forces have been completely demoralized.

at Galveston for work in this emergency that an importation of outside laborers to the city is necessary. The city is authorized to conduct the salubrious work while the people of Galveston were given an opportunity of looking after their own property without giving any thought to the city at large. The city is authorized to employ such of these 2000 imported laborers it will require some four weeks to clean the city of the pest.

The special committee from Galveston requested the Associated Press correspondents to make a tour of the city to see the damage done by the storm and to report on the needs of the citizens. The committee also requested that the press report on the clothing sent from San Antonio to the victims of the storm.

This afternoon Governor Sawyer went to an Associated Press conference to discuss the work of granting relief to the victims of the storm. He said that the state was making excellent progress in the relief work. He said: "Most generous contributions have been received from all parts of the country sufficiently large to relieve the suffering of the victims. The state has received donations as to food and clothing from the people of the United States and other countries. In the meantime the Texas and Gulf states have been receiving donations from the people of the United States and other countries."

world in general at Galveston would most certainly be rebuilt. They have assurances from the railroads entering Galveston that they will be glad to combine issues and repair use of the trestles across the bay and as soon as the city is quieted down somewhat they will begin the work. The city will build a steel bridge across the bay for their combined use that will defy any further storm damage.

thousands of experienced mechanics in all building lines in Galveston, and for the next three months there will be more labor here than labor anywhere else in the country.

The second relief committee entertained by the governor this morning was one from the city of Houston, headed by Mr. Lewis Bryan, president of the Houston Chamber of Commerce. They reported that the city was in a destitute circumstance there, without food, clothing or homes. Crops have been lost, and the city is in a desperate situation financially.

Frank Johnson Comits to Fight

Baird, Texas, September 2.—Frank Johnson, proprietor of the Hotel Bay, here, has announced that he will fight for the city by showing himself determined to protect the city from the marauding head with a pistol. The immediate effect of the act is not known, but it is expected that the hotel will be able to prosper in business.

Johnson is a well known citizen and is a member of the local bar.

was headed by a tidal wave and with nothing at hand to work the fields if they were to be left in the hands of the enemy. Indeed deplore the situation. The reports that among the first donations large shipments of shingles were especially welcome in view of the fact that most of the houses in that section that were standing were barres of any roofs and the shingles enable a roofing at once.

The relief committee, composed of the precinct reported 2500 destitute there and conditions most deplorable. Other sections sent in their relief committees during the day and as a result of all Governor Bayard ordered the following post haul shipments, to be followed by more tomorrow: To Galveston, 200,000 pounds

Horsford's Acid Phosphate
